

Community Engaged Learning Final Debrief

This resource provides a guide for students and community partners to debrief on their Community Engaged Learning (CEL) experience. It is intended to help students and community partners identify the strengths and weaknesses of the partnership, provide and receive feedback regarding the project/placement, and discuss strategies for improvement with regards to future partnerships students and community partners may engage in.

Did you find the partnership to be a valuable and beneficial experience?

What were the greatest strengths of the partnership?

What were some of the challenges faced during the partnership?

What steps were taken to overcome those challenges?

What strategies could be used to prevent such challenges in future partnerships and collaborations?

Does the project meet the intended outcomes agreed upon on the Student and Community Partner Expectations Agreement Form?

In what ways could the project be improved to meet the intended outcomes?

In what ways can the project be expanded upon to further advance the mission of the organization?

In what ways will the organization use the deliverable(s) to advance its mission?

What impact will the deliverable(s) have on the organization and/or the community?

Are there any outstanding concerns or feedback regarding the project/placement that should be discussed?
